Cookie Policy

Last updated: 22 July, 2024

The services use cookies and similar technologies. Cookies (so-called "cookies") are IT data, in particular text files, which are stored in the final device (e.g. computer, smartphone, tablet) of the user of the services. Some cookies are necessary for the use of all the functionalities of the Platform/apps offered, so it is not recommended to disable them.

1. WHAT FILES ARE USED?

Necessary cookies are used to enable you to use the services. Necessary cookies, the installation and storage of which on your device does not require your consent, include:

- session and media player files used to maintain the session (user input cookies);
- authentication cookies used for services that require authentication for the duration of the session (authentication cookies);
- user centric security cookies.

Cookies are used to improve the quality of the services. The user can disable cookies, but this may affect the user experience.

Cookies necessary for the provision of services are listed in the table below.

Cookie name	Supplier	Functions	Storage period in a user's device
remember_token	Motifray PSA	Session cookie used for authentication and authorisation of Motifray platform users.	Up to 30 days.

_gorilla_csrf	Motifray PSA	Session cookie used to protect against CSRF attack attempts.	Given user session

2. CHOICES IN RELATION TO COOKIES

The user can accept or reject cookies and delete those already installed. The user can also set their browser to notify them whenever new cookies are placed on their computer or other device. More detailed information on how to manage cookies can be found using the help function available in your web browser.

Disabling some or all cookies may result in the user not being able to make full use of the services. The user can manage the access of cookies to the device and delete the files. You will find the necessary information on the website:
